

2017
ACNEM
TRAINING
PUTTING NEM
INTO PRACTICE
SYDNEY
25-26 NOVEMBER

REGISTER ONLINE AT ACNEM.ORG

The Australasian College of Nutritional and Environmental Medicine (ACNEM) is running a 2-day, specialised training workshop called 'Putting NEM into Practice'. We offer these practical workshops once a year and they are always very popular. The style of learning is more casual than our usual formal presentations, as they involve small groups facilitated by experienced ACNEM clinicians.

The workshops are based on real case studies and will cover a range of health conditions and approaches, including fatigue and gastrointestinal disorders. This year, we are introducing a session on the different approaches to detoxification. This training will help you develop specific case taking skills for NEM consultations, and learn about relevant nutritional assessments and diagnosis. The overall aim of this weekend is to provide health professionals with practical, clinical skills you can take back to your practice on Monday.

2 days face-to-face + required activities

For more information and to register online visit acnem.org

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- ✓ Gain insight on the practical application of nutritional and environmental principles from experienced clinicians
- ✓ Experience learning in a small-group, practical workshop
- ✓ Consider specialised functional pathology testing in urine, blood and stool to support diagnosis
- ✓ Explore detailed case history taking, pathology testing and treatment options for many common patient presentations

SPEAKERS

Dr Kamal Karl MBBS, FACNEM, FRNZCGP, Integrative Medicine practitioner for over 20 years; director of the Wellness Centre in NZ specialising in treating chronic illness.

Dr Nadine Perlen MBBS, FRACGP, DRANZCOG ACNEM Board member and practitioner with special interest in the impact of gut and the microbiome on all other areas of health.

Dr Min Yeo MBBS, FRACGP, FACNEM, MMUS(Dist), FMUSA General practitioner passionate about internal medicine and inspiring lifestyle changes.

Dr Christabelle Yeoh MBBS, MRCP, MSc (Nut), ACNEM President Experienced GP passionate about the interconnectedness of human metabolism, biology and behaviour.

EARLY BIRD AND MEMBER
DISCOUNTS
APPLY

RACGP &
ACCRM
CPD POINTS
MAY APPLY

AUSTRALASIAN COLLEGE OF NUTRITIONAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL MEDICINE
PROVIDING POST GRADUATE EDUCATION TO DOCTORS AND HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONALS FOR OVER 30 YEARS.
ONLINE COURSES ALSO AVAILABLE - VISIT ACNEM.ORG FOR MORE INFORMATION | +61 3 9597 0363 | MAIL@ACNEM.ORG